

Re-reading John Dewey's Ethics

Alma Mater Studiorum—Università di Bologna, Dipartimento di Filosofia e
Comunicazione

October 9-11, 2017 —Aula Mondolfo, via Zamboni 38, 3rd floor

Organizers: Roberto Frega (CMB-CNRS) & Steven Levine (Univ. of Massachusetts, Boston)

Monday 9

Morning 9.30 – 13

David Hildebrand, Impartial Reflection and the Construction of an Enduring Good: Does Dewey eliminate Joie de Vivre

Rosa Calcaterra, Ethos and morality. A plea for balance

Roberto Gronda, Chasing down Dewey's Intellectualism

Afternoon 15 – 18.30

Jörg Volbers, Normativity and Duty

Camille Pascal, Does Dewey consequentialize Kant's moral theory?

Mathias Girel, Moral claims and their justification

Tuesday 10

Morning 9.30 – 13

Roberto Frega, Which exactly is the place of Virtues in Dewey's Ethics?

Roberta Dreon, Through the eyes of others

Sarin Marchetti, Virtue and Moral Theory

Afternoon 15 – 18.30

Céline Henne, Dewey on sympathy and the objectivity of moral judgments

Gregory Pappas, How should we approach moral problems?

Roberto Brigati, Reflections on Reflective Morality

Wednesday 11

Morning 9.30 – 13

Steven Levine, Dewey, motivation, and the speculative identity of self and act

Stéphane Madelrieux, The Moral Self of Dogs. Responsibility and Learning

Closing remarks

Attendance is free but registration is compulsory. A previous knowledge of the text discussed is expected. If you wish to participate, please send a request to fregarob@gmail.com

ALMA MATER STUDIORUM
UNIVERSITÀ DI BOLOGNA
DIPARTIMENTO DI FILOSOFIA E COMUNICAZIONE

